Reconciliation Australia welcomes Lockheed Martin Australia to the Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) program with the formal endorsement of its inaugural Reflect RAP.

Lockheed Martin Australia joins a network of more than 2,200 corporate, government, and not-for-profit organisations that have made a formal commitment to reconciliation through the RAP program.

Since 2006, RAPs have provided a framework for organisations to leverage their structures and diverse spheres of influence to support the national reconciliation movement. The program’s potential for impact is greater than ever, with close to 3 million people now working or studying in an organisation with a RAP.

The four RAP types Reflect, Innovate, Stretch and Elevate – allow RAP partners to continuously develop and strengthen reconciliation commitments in new ways. This Reflect RAP will lay the foundations, priming the workplace for future RAPs and reconciliation initiatives.

The RAP program’s strength is its framework of relationships, respect, and opportunities, allowing an organisation to strategically set its reconciliation commitments in line with its own business objectives, for the most effective outcomes.

These outcomes contribute towards the five dimensions of reconciliation: race relations; equality and equity; institutional integrity; unity; and historical acceptance.

It is critical to not only uphold all five dimensions of reconciliation, but also increase awareness of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures, histories, knowledge, and leadership across all sectors of Australian society.

This Reflect RAP enables Lockheed Martin Australia to deepen its understanding of its sphere of influence and the unique contribution it can make to lead progress across the five dimensions. Getting these first steps right will ensure the sustainability of future RAPs and reconciliation initiatives, and provide meaningful impact toward Australia’s reconciliation journey.

Congratulations Lockheed Martin Australia, welcome to the RAP program, and I look forward to following your reconciliation journey in the years to come.

– Karen Mundine
Chief Executive Officer
Reconciliation Australia
I am proud to present Lockheed Martin Australia’s inaugural Reflect Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP). Our values of ‘Do What’s Right, Respect Others, Perform with Excellence’ underpins everything we do at Lockheed Martin Australia. This is the beginning of our reconciliation journey, and we are committed to achieving the actions and targets outlined in this Reflect RAP over the next 12 months. Our RAP will provide the foundation for Lockheed Martin Australia to build trust and strengthen our relationships, both internally and externally; deepen our understanding and respect for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, their rich histories, cultures and achievements; and to promote sustainable opportunities within our sphere of influence.

Our RAP also underpins Lockheed Martin Australia’s aspirations to improve the cultural diversity of our organisation, to be reflective of the communities in which we operate and live. At Lockheed Martin Australia, we know a diverse and inclusive workplace means we can truly be our best. Our drive for a diverse and inclusive workplace will include reviewing and creating meaningful opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to contribute to supporting and enhancing Lockheed Martin Australia’s capability and growth.

Importantly, Lockheed Martin Australia’s RAP has the full support of our senior executive team. The Plan will be governed by Lockheed Martin Australia’s RAP Working Group to ensure we deliver on our commitments, that they remain relevant and we achieve our objectives. We are committed to reporting transparently on our progress.

I look forward to seeing our RAP come to life over the next year and welcome the positive change it will bring to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and our organisation.

– Warren McDonald, Chief Executive, Lockheed Martin Australia and New Zealand
Headquartered in Canberra, Lockheed Martin Australia Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of Lockheed Martin Corporation, is one of the largest companies in the aerospace, military support, security, and technologies industry, working in the realisation of Australia’s national interest for over 70 years. Today, we employ over 1300 people working on a wide range of major programs spanning the aerospace, defence and civil sectors with a presence in every mainland state and territory.

Lockheed Martin Australia’s diverse programs form a critical backbone of Australia’s current and future defence capabilities including Next Generation Pilot Training, Combat Systems Integration, Rotary Wing Systems and Sustainment, Missiles and Fire Control, 5th Generation Air Combat Capability, Surveillance across air, sea, land and space domains.

We deliver genuine opportunities for Australians in regional centres to develop skills in high end industry roles including the development of advanced technologies and sustainment. Lockheed Martin Australia invests in partnerships with Australia’s research and industry communities to support our global supply chains, providing opportunities for sustainable business growth. Our investment in local communities, veteran support organisations as well as initiatives create opportunities for thousands of Australians to enjoy a better future.

Lockheed Martin Australia is committed to consistently improving its understanding of the diversity of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures, and translating this into essential learning opportunities to appropriately engage future Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander employees. A deeper understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and historical facts will better aid Lockheed Martin Australia in creating a culturally aware working environment that is both supportive and engaging. Further, these learnings will support the development of culturally competent staff, reflected in its resources, engaging and meaningful employment initiatives and commercially champion these undertakings in the defence sector.

In line with Lockheed Martin Australia’s core values – Do What’s Right, Respect Others and Perform with Excellence, our inaugural RAP outlines Lockheed Martin Australia’s intent to demonstrate the actions that we as an organisation, together with our employees, will commit to, in achieving reconciliation.

Our Reflect RAP outlines the specific activities Lockheed Martin Australia will undertake and how we intend to hold ourselves accountable to our plan to form meaningful partnerships with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and communities, to work towards becoming an employer of choice for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

The Lockheed Martin Australia RAP Working Group in consultation with our key internal and external stakeholders, identified and developed actionable deliverables and initiatives with the specific aim of constructing revised recruitment and engagement processes that incorporate a supportive, flexible and proactive working environment for existing and future Lockheed Martin Australia Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander employees.

This RAP represents Lockheed Martin Australia’s first Reconciliation Action Plan, in the form of a Reflect RAP, and is our first step on the journey to reconciliation.
We have appointed a RAP Working Group (WG), encompassing a diverse team, geographically dispersed and from all areas of the business. Each member has expressed a personal desire to support this initiative. The current RAP WG team members are listed below:

Jane Snewin - Director, Human Resources - Australia, New Zealand and Asia
Richard Evans - Senior, Industrial Development
Brad Wheatley - Research Engineering Associate Manager
Liam Morris - HR Business Partner
Yvette Payne - Senior Diversity and Inclusion Analyst
David O’Neill - IT Program Senior Manager
Travis Partridge - Sustainment Engineering Manager
Derek Milton - Sustainment Engineering Manager
Richard Barnes - Avionics Maintenance Engineer
Mark Thyer - Technical Trainer
Katherine Catcheside - L&D Coordinator

Our charter
- Build strong and lasting relationships with the Indigenous communities in which Lockheed Martin Australia operate, and proactively develop our awareness and competency of Indigenous Australian culture.
- Consistently and proactively develop community relationships that are founded on mutual understanding, trust, respect and are free from discrimination.
- Aligns with the Lockheed Martin Australia Corporate Strategy and values which will grow our business, resulting in continuous improvement within existing programs, develop skills and capabilities, establish strategic partnerships and align with our Corporate Social and Philanthropic responsibilities as well as our Diversity and Inclusion strategy.

Lockheed Martin Australia’s RAP Champion is Jane Snewin, our Director - Human Resources, who will lead and oversee the development and implementation of our RAP and its actions. Our Reconciliation Action Plan Working Group are responsible for implementing our RAP by driving our action plan and working with both our internal and external stakeholders.
ARTWORK AND ARTIST

ABOUT THE ARTIST PAT CARUSO

Pat was born creative, a skill he has expertly applied in product creation and life cycle management across his career working with brands including Harris Scarfe, Vili’s Family Bakery, Hyundai and Aboriginal Health Council.

Pat’s family background is of an Eastern Arrernte person whose connection to country and community was disrupted by his mother’s removal in Alice Springs in the mid-1950s. Despite this event, he strongly identifies as both a person of Eastern Arrernte background and the Sultan family.

Pat has spent 20 years reconnecting to his roots, taking his children, communities, and clients on a profound journey of knowledge sharing and reflection, and encouraging us all to embrace all facets of our unique identities.

Through We Create Print Deliver, an advertising and business agency he founded in 2015, Pat is building a legacy that honours his cross-cultural identity.

The artwork is a metaphor for the Lockheed Martin Australia Reconciliation Action Plan journey. The artwork depicts the connectivity of Lockheed Martin Australia and how their Reconciliation Action Plan is founded on the organisation’s core values and main pillars.
ABOUT THE ARTWORK

CREATIVE DESIGN ELEMENTS

Key Elements of Artwork Representation

13 CIRCLES

There are 13 circles, symbolic of the 13 Lockheed Martin Australian sites and the 13 different language groups. The centre circle is representative of where the individual is. For example, they may be in Canberra, Sydney or Adelaide etc.

THE BACKGROUND

The background is emotive of a symbolic feeling, a tribute to the dreaming and the ancestral guidance. Overlooking and protecting the reconciliation process. Textured edges provide imagery of sand, red earth, shorelines, and coastal lines. Overall, there is a deep connection of earth and space to First Nations Peoples and their songlines.

THE LINES

The lines represent the qualities of the people underneath, pointing inwards, who hold up all the elements of Lockheed Martin Australia. The dots are many, irregular and varied in size, symbolising the 1300 employees and growing, indicative of the array of culture, gender and backgrounds. These are the people, personal attributes, values and life experiences.

13 CIRCLES

This large centre circle is formed by the 6 business areas: Enterprise Operations, STELaRLab, Rotary and Mission Systems, Missiles and Fire Control, Space and Aeronautics. The individuals of the 13 sites are under the guidance of the 3 core organisational values: ‘Do What’s Right, Respect Others, Perform with Excellence.’

13 CIRCLES

CONNECTIONS

The connections between are links to sharing of knowledge and ethics of business. While employees may work in different places they aren’t isolated in mission and the reconciliation journey.

Lockheed Martin Australia is a member of Supply Nation.
