Dear Ms. Curley:

ARCADIS (on behalf of the Lockheed Martin Corporation) is submitting this letter summary report on additional evaluation of the performance of the existing sub-slab depressurization system (SSDS) in the vicinity of vapor monitoring point VMP-7A at the former Lockheed Martin French Road facility in Utica, New York. The work that is the basis for this report was presented in ARCADIS' September 5, 2012 letter to the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (NYSDEC) (titled Evaluation Plan for SSDS Performance in Area of VMP-7A), which was approved by NYSDEC in its October 31, 2012 letter to Lockheed Martin.

As has been most recently reported by Lockheed Martin in the Sub-Slab Depressurization System Operation, Maintenance, and Monitoring Report, 2011 Reporting Period (ARCADIS, March 2012) and identified in the NYSDEC letter to Lockheed Martin dated August 29, 2012, the SSDS has maintained appropriate vacuum during historical and recent operations in all monitored locations with the exception of monitoring location VMP-7A. In response, ARCADIS developed a plan to further evaluate performance of the SSDS near this location, and performance of the sub-slab depressurization sump (SDS-7) installed to mitigate potential vapor intrusion impacts in this area of the site.

The focus of the evaluation was to determine whether the lack of vacuum noted at VMP-7A is an isolated occurrence, or indicative of overall performance of SDS-7. Two other vacuum monitoring points (identified as VMP-7, located north of SDS-7, and VMP-7B, located east of SDS-7) are meeting performance requirements for the SSDS.

The following sections present the activities completed as part of this evaluation, a summary of data collected, and recommendations for future actions based on that data.

Temporary VMP Installation

ARCADIS installed seven temporary vacuum points (TVMPs) in the vicinity of SDS-7 and VMP-7A, in areas north, west and south of SDS-7. Approximate locations of the TVMPs (as measured in the field) are indicated on the attached Figure 1. The intent and selection of locations was to measure and define the vacuum radius of influence from SDS-7.

Locations TVMP-1, TVMP-2, TVMP-3, and TVMP-4 were located within the same room as the location of SDS-7, and in areas which had historically required mitigation per the New York State Department of Health (NYSDOH) Guidance for Evaluating Soil Vapor Intrusion in the State of New York (October 2006). This area is referred to as 'Warehouse Area J" by the ConMed Corporation (site occupant). Location TVMP-5, located just south of Warehouse Area J (and in a hallway) was selected based on a historic sample location (identified as VP-2SD) which, at the time of its sampling in April 2007, carried a NYSDOH Guidance decision matrix designation of "monitor/mitigate." Locations TVMP-6 and TVMP-7, located farther to the south, were placed in areas used as offices. The southerly extent of the radius of influence by SDS-7 would be established by collecting measurements at these points.

An electric hammer drill was used to drill a hole through the slab and TVMPs were installed by advancing a 3/8-inch diameter boring through the concrete slab at each location. Teflon tubing (0.25-inch outside diameter) was then inserted into the boring extending to the bottom of the floor slab at each location. Shrink-Resistant Clay (#6102T11 from McMaster Carr) was placed around the tubing at the floor penetration to create a full seal.

Long-Term Vacuum Measurement Collection

Following installation, each temporary VMP was attached to a datalogger capable of recording continuous (reading every 10-15 minutes) vacuum measurements. Measurements were collected for approximately 1-week, at which time the data were downloaded and compared to the SSDS performance goal of a consistent vacuum measurement of 0.004 inches of water.

Prior to connecting the dataloggers, a baseline vacuum measurement at each TVMP was collected using a digital micromanometer. These baseline measurements are included in Table 1 below.

Table 1 – Baseline Vacuum Measurements

Location	Measurement	Meet Criteria?
TVMP-1	+ 0.003	No
TVMP-2	- 0.007 to - 0.017	Yes
TVMP-3	0.000 to + 0.003	No
TVMP-4	- 0.182	Yes
TVMP-5	-0.060	Yes
TVMP-6	0.000	No
TVMP-7	- 0.010	Yes
VMP-7A	0.000 to - 0.003	No

Notes:
Measurements in inches of water column (in. W.C.)
Criteria for successful performance is – 0.004 in. W.C.

A graphical summary of vacuum measurements at each TVMP location is included as Appendix A, and discussed below. Additionally, Figure 2 provides a summary of TVMPs (and VMPs) which meet SSDS performance requirements.

- TVMP-1: The minimum differential pressure required (- 0.004 in. W.C.) was not met at this location over the duration of the test.

- TVMP-2: The minimum differential pressure required (- 0.004 in. W.C.) was met at this location over the entire duration of the test. A single measurement (at 16:20 on October 29, 2012) did have a measurement that did not meet performance criteria (differential pressure of – 0.0005 in. W.C.); however, it is assumed that this data point is an outlier and a result of an error in the instrument or disruption of vacuum by some other, unknown factor.

- TVMP-3: The minimum differential pressure required (- 0.004 in. W.C.) was not met at this location over the duration of the test. Two measurements (at 3:55 and 4:30 on October 29, 2012) were collected as equal to the performance criteria (- 0.004 in. W.C.); however, these were not sustained for any duration and cannot be concluded as representative of effective sub-slab depressurization at this location.

- TVMP-4: The minimum differential pressure required (- 0.004 in. W.C.) was met at this location over the entire duration of the test. In fact, measurements at this location exceeded the maximum set point (-0.250 in. W.C.) during the test.

- TVMP-5: The minimum differential pressure required (- 0.004 in. W.C.) was met at this location over the entire duration of the test. Note that an error with the datalogger programming prevented the electronic download of measurements. However, a hard copy of the readings was able to be printed (included in Appendix B), and data were plotted every 12 hours.

- TVMP-6: The minimum differential pressure required (- 0.004 in. W.C.) was not met at this location over the duration of the test.

- TVMP-7: The minimum differential pressure required (- 0.004 in. W.C.) was not consistently met at this location over the duration of the test. Initially (within the first 4 hours of the test, including the baseline reading as presented in Table 1), TVMP-7 was exhibiting measurements which exceeded the minimum performance criteria. However, this differential pressure was not maintained.

Conclusions and Recommendations

As identified in the Sub-Slab Depressurization System 100% Design Work Plan (ARCADIS, 2010), the location of SDS-7 was selected to mitigate the area near former soil gas sampling locations vapor point (VP) VP-2SD (located in the hallway south of Warehouse Area J) and VP-9SD (located south of the office area) per sampling results presented in the Addendum to the Vapor Intrusion Study Report for the Solvent Dock Area (ARCADIS 2008). The location of SDS-7 was also identified as having the potential of assisting in the mitigation of potential migration of the soil vapor plume to other areas of the facility. In addition, the existing VMP monitoring network for the SSDS includes location VMP-7A, which [based on data presented within the Annual Vapor Intrusion Report for the Solvent Dock Area (May 2012)] has been classified as “monitor.”

An evaluation of the performance of existing extraction sump SDS-7 indicates that this location is effective at depressurization of the sub-slab in the vicinity of the sump in Warehouse Area J. However, the radius of influence is limited to approximately 40 feet in eastern, northern, and western directions. Temporary monitoring points located farther than 40 feet to the west (including permanent VMP-7A) are not influenced by the SSDS. The SSDS is effectively depressurizing the hallway area south of SDS-7, but not farther south into the areas currently used as office space.

As a result of this evaluation, additional efforts to mitigate the area of VMP-7A and meet the performance requirements as identified within the original design are required.

Although VMP-7A is currently listed as a “monitor” designation based on the NYSDOH Guidance, it has in previous sampling events been assigned a “mitigate” designation. In order to limit any future potential of vapor migration into indoor air, an additional extraction point will need to be added in the area of VMP-7A. Lockheed Martin will develop a work plan, to be submitted to NYSDEC for approval, which will identify the measures to be taken regarding the VMP-7A area.

A preliminary approach developed by Lockheed Martin includes the following steps:

1. An additional extraction sump will be installed near VMP-7A. Several additional permanent VMPs (including select locations that had been installed as TVMPs) will also be installed.

2. Following installation, a temporary hose will be connected between the newly-installed sump (i.e., SDS-8) and the existing piping at SDS-7. SDS-8 will be isolated and a pilot test (extraction from solely SDS-8) will be performed. Measurements at both the newly-installed VMPs as well as previously existing VMPs will be collected to identify the radius of influence of SDS-8.

3. If vacuum measurements indicate that performance criteria of SDS-8 are being met (a vacuum of -0.004 in. W.C. in areas identified within the 100% Design), then the testing will be considered complete and permanent piping and infrastructure will be developed around SDS-8.

4. If vacuum measurements indicate that performance criteria of the SSDS are not being met, additional pilot extraction sumps will be installed at locations to be determined. A pilot test at each additional sump location will be completed until an adequate capture area has been achieved by the additional sump(s), at which time those additional locations will be made permanent and incorporated into the overall SSDS.

Feel free to contact us if you have any questions or comments regarding this letter.

Sincerely,

ARCADIS U.S., Inc.
